

Ohio's Voters To Ballot On Buildings Issue

$150 Million Project To Feature New Ohio Hospitals, Prisons

COLUMBUS (AP)—If Ohio voters next November approve a $150 million bond issue for state buildings, at least 40 per cent of it will go for mental and correctional institutions. This was the decision yesterday of majority Republicans in the Ohio Senate.

GOP senators ruled in caucus that the provision for minimum spending on welfare institutions should be written into the building proposal before it is submitted to the people for a vote.

Senate Republicans earlier decided the bond issue proposal itself should spell out exactly what new taxes would be levied if the bond issue is approved at the polls. The House-approved version had left the tax question up to an extraordinary session of the Legislature next January—if the bond issue is approved.

Among taxes suggested in the Senate were: A penny-a-pack increase in the state cigarette tax, an increase in the state's gallonage tax on liquor and an increase in the state levy on domestic and foreign corporations.

THE DECISION on what taxes should be written into the bond issue proposal will be left up to the Senate's State Government committee.

Other structures which might be built with bond issue funds include a new state office building, university buildings and new schools. Another bond issue headed for the ballot, the Senate-approved Korean veterans' bonus, probably will not be put before Ohio voters before 1956. House Speaker Roger Cloud (R-Logan) said the proposed constitutional amendment will be up for a House vote in the next few days, but the vote date will be changed from next November to November 1956.

This will avoid a ballot conflict with the buildings bond issue. Fear had been expressed by legislators that a conflict of the two bond issues on the same ballot would result in the defeat of both.

The Senate yesterday adopted unanimously and sent to the House a joint resolution setting June 23 as the final working day of the 101st General Assembly and July 12 as the final adjournment date.

These were yesterday's major floor developments as the Legislature drove toward adjournment: The House passed a Senate-approved bill approving construction of a parking garage under the Statehouse yard. House amendments will send the measure back to the Senate.

The Senate virtually completed passage of a bill to make uniform the retirement systems for teachers, other school employees and employees of the state, cities, counties and townships.

Some 230,000 persons are affected—75,000 teachers, 33,000 other school employees and more than 121,000 other public employees.

The bill must go back to the House for acceptance of amendments.

2 School-Bound Girls Killed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Police searched today for a .22 caliber weapon and the killer who sprayed 14 shots from it into two teenage girls heading for school on the term's last day.

Yesterday's double slaying was in a suburban rustic park. Dr. John T. Maloney, Prince Georges, Md., county coroner, said an autopsy showed the 14 bullet holes. He said neither of the girls was sexually attacked.

Victims of the daylight shooting were Nancy Marie Shomette, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Shomette, and Michael Ann Ryan, 14, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Ryan. Both families live at Lane Manor, Md.

Weather Station Wrecked By Wind

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP)—Wind in gusts up to 107 miles per hour roared through the outskirts here this morning, wrecking the U. S. Weather Bureau.

Hail, 1½ inches in diameter and rain accompanied the wind. Three and one-half inches of rain drenched the city, causing minor flash floods in some areas. No injuries were reported.

Ike Orders Mock Mobilization Test

Martial Law Declared In Trial Of Nation's Defense Preparedness

EMERGENCY HEADQUARTERS, Operation Alert (AP)—President Eisenhower today declared a mock state of martial law to mobilize "the authority and resources of the federal government" in coping with the massive problems of a nation theoretically ravaged by hydrogen and atomic bombs.

The President's action was announced by a spokesman who said it was Eisenhower's view such a step was necessary to the national interest until Congress, supposedly scattered by the mock attack, could reconvene and until normal channels of government action were re-established.

The theoretical martial law declaration was taken after the imagined damage from yesterday's great sham attack on 61 major population and industrial centers had been assessed, the spokesman said.

The President came out with his martial law declaration on the second day of Operation Alert 1955, the hydrogen age preparedness exercise which started yesterday when enemy bombers supposedly rained death and ruin on the nation's capital and 60 other key cities.

5 Million 'Die' In 'A-Attack'

61 U.S. Cities Involved In Civil Defense Test

By The Associated Press
Hydrogen and atom bomb "attacks" wreaked theoretical havoc yesterday on the nation's key cities and outlying possessions in a rehearsal for disaster.

The "enemy" assault on 61 U. S. cities and territories left more than five millions "dead," about twice as many "injured," and millions of evacuees without homes or jobs.

Despite some confusion and indifference to the mock attack in many communities, Civil Defense Administrator Val Peterson said Operation Alert has been "very successful."

New York City "counted" 2,991,258 dead from a hydrogen bomb explosion in Brooklyn. Officials gave the following theoretical figures for the New York, New Jersey and New England area: 3,090,000 dead, 2,579,000 injured and 6,733,000 displaced.

In Chicago, civil defense officials termed the test successful. Almost three fourths of the city's 3,600,000 inhabitants theoretically escaped death or injury.

LACK OF preparedness was responsible for 110,000 "dead" and 104,000 "injured" in Kansas City.

In New Orleans, one of the seven cities which did not know in advance whether it would be a target area or supporting city, the make-believe blast killed 36,023 and injured 12,619.

In Buffalo, N. Y., an A-bomb theoretically wiped out 140,000 persons, about a fifth of the city's population. In Flint, Mich., sirens were being prepared and thus not in working order. Without warning devices, 57,000 people "died."

The indifference of many New Yorkers to the bomb test caused Acting Mayor Abe Stark to say by radio during rehearsal, "I pray to God there never will be a real alert."

Japan Says Reds Demand U.S. Get Out

TOKYO (AP)—Major Japanese newspapers said today Russia had demanded that the United States pull its troops out of Japan and Okinawa within 90 days as the price of a Soviet-Japan World War II peace treaty.

Similar stories in Tokyo dailies said Russia made a "drastic proposal" at Tuesday's session of the USSR-Japan peace talks in London which embraced the demands the Soviets failed to win at the 1951 San Francisco peace parley.

Kyodo news agency said Jacob Malik, chief Russian delegate at the recently convened London peace talks, had renewed the Soviet demands:

1. Withdrawal of foreign troops and bases from Japan within 90 days after the effective date of a peace treaty. Extension of Japan's sovereignty to the Ryukyus and the Bonin Islands.

2. Recognition by Japan of Russian sovereignty over Sakhalin and the Kurile Islands. Japan has been demanding return of South Sakhalin and the Kuriles, given by the Allies to Russia at the Yalta conference.

3. Recognition by Japan of Communist China's sovereignty over Manchuria and Formosa, both held by Japan in World War II.

Social Security Revision Talked

Dems Seek To Boost Various Benefits

WASHINGTON (AP)—Broad and costly revisions of the social security program were given a legislative go-ahead today by Democratic House leaders.

Plans agreed on at a meeting attended by Speaker Rayburn of Texas, Democratic Leader McCormack of Massachusetts and Democratic members of the Ways and Means Committee call for action at this session on a bill to benefit principally women and all disabled employees.

The Ways and Means Committee may start consideration of the proposals next week.

Changes backed by the Democrats, and likely to have substantial Republican support, would:

1. Lower the pension eligibility age for women from 65 to 62 years, affecting immediately a million women and costing an estimated $350 million a year.

2. Provide for immediate benefit payments to insured workers permanently and totally disabled, regardless of age. This would cost up to $1.4 billion a year and affect up to 1,700,000 persons. At present such workers don't get benefit payments until they reach 65.

3. Continue benefit payments for children past the age of 18 who are physically or mentally incapacitated. The cost of this would be relatively small.

Although no agreement was reached, the legislation also may extend coverage, on a voluntary basis, to some professional and self-employed groups not now covered.

The proposed changes would require eventual adjustment of the present schedule of payments into the social security fund by employees and employers. Each now pays 2 per cent on the first $4,200 of the worker's yearly earnings.

Florida Judge Feared Victim Of Kidnaper

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Authorities leaned today on a kidnap-murder theory today in the mysterious disappearance of Circuit Judge C. E. Chillingworth and his wife.

"I hope this is only a kidnapping," said Sheriff John F. Kirk. "We are still at a loss as to what happened and as to what motive they might have had."

The tall, thin, 58-year-old jurist and his wife Marjorie, 57, were last seen by friends in Palm Beach Tuesday night and were reported missing from their ocean-side summer home at nearby Manalapan yesterday morning.

Judge Chillingworth, a native of West Palm Beach, had been county judge for two years and circuit judge for 32.

State Atty. Phil O'Connell discounted a theory that a prisoner recently released may have been responsible, but said he had no other possible clues.

There were footprints in the wet sand, what appeared to be blood stains on a beach walk and a smashed spotlight outside the concrete and frame beach house, indicating violence.

"We are working on the theory that they were attacked and carried away either by boat or by car," said John R. Hiatt, Palm Beach County investigator.

American Motors Talks Adjourned

DETROIT (AP)—Bargaining talks between American Motors Corp. and the CIO United Auto Workers were adjourned today until Tuesday with both sides apparently trying for a compromise on the guaranteed wage issue.

At the close of two days of bargaining yesterday, Leonard Woodcock, UAW vice president, said the union will consider "all pertinent economic factors" in working out a new contract to cover AM's 22,000 workers.

The company, which makes Nash and Hudson cars and household appliances, contends it is not in a position to grant the same benefits the union obtained from Ford and General Motors.

FLANKED BY Defense Mobilizer Arthur Flemming (left) and Civil Defense Administrator Val Peterson, President Eisenhower addresses the nation by radio and television from an emergency mobilization center for high-ranking government officials somewhere outside Washington. Led by the President, some 15,000 government officials and employees raced to 31 relocation sites within 300 miles of the capital during a civil defense exercise dubbed "Operation Alert, 1955."

Ohio Counts 192,562 'Dead' During Civil Defense Test

COLUMBUS (AP)—Ohio today counted 192,562 "dead" and 185,888 "injured" persons in a nationwide Civil Defense test in which five of the state's major cities were "atom-bombed."

The State CD Control Center at nearby Westerville announced the "casualty list" for the five stricken cities—Cleveland, Youngstown, Akron, Toledo and Dayton.

All were given advance notice of yesterday's attack except for Dayton, one of three cities in the nation which underwent a "surprise bombing." Houston and Detroit also were victims of surprise raids.

State CD headquarters said the number of Ohioans "displaced" from their homes by the attacks was 1,587,111. Of this number, 1,257,500 were moved into support areas and were fed and sheltered in care centers. Presumably, others received care from families in areas near the target cities.

ALL CASUALTIES and displaced persons, of course, are figured on paper. But they are the estimated numbers that would have been affected had a real enemy attack taken place.

There were token evacuations in Columbus, Dayton, Cleveland and Youngstown, CD headquarters said. "Possibly a few blocks and a few industries" had residents and workers evacuating, a spokesman added.

Maj. Gen. Leo M. Kreber, Ohio's adjutant general and Civil Defense director, commented:

"The general efficiency displayed so far in this exercise

U.S. Ready To Aid Return Of Any POWs

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government announced today it will arrange the return home of any of the 21 American war prisoners who chose to stay in Communist China after the Korean War, but who now have changed their minds.

However, the White House, and the State, Defense and Justice departments warned in a joint statement that any who do come back to the United States will be held accountable "for any wrongful act" they may have committed.

Recently, relatives reported receiving letters indicating that Cpl. Otto G. Bell, of Olympia, Wash., and Cpl. Lewis W. Griggs, of Jacksonville, Tenn., now want to return. And six other former POWs are listed by their relatives as writing that they hope to leave Red China for home.

Originally, there were 23 American soldiers, taken prisoner during the Korean fighting, who refused to return to U. S. control after the armistice.

But two—Cpl. Edward S. Dickenson of Cracker's Neck, Va., and Cpl. Claude J. Batchelor of Kermit, Tex.—later had a change of heart. They returned, but since have been convicted by Army courts martial on collaboration charges. Both were given long prison sentences.

Dem Chieftain Presses Texas 'Peace Tour'

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Chairman Paul M. Butler of the Democratic National Committee, pleased with his reception, took his "peace tour" of Texas eastward today after an invasion of conservative-voting Dallas.

Butler's efforts to iron out differences between feuding Texas Democrats apparently was bearing fruit, but there seemed just as much evidence that he had not breached the hard core of conservatism within the state party.

In a Big Spring appearance yesterday, Butler was greeted by Mrs. Hal C. Peck, vice chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee, controlled by Gov. Allan Shivers, who led Texas Democrats to Eisenhower in 1952.

At the same meeting he received news that John McKelvey, a member of the loyalist Democratic Advisory Council, had resigned with the assertion that Butler's treatment of Shivers was "callous."

Butler declined Monday an invitation from the governor to meet for lunch in Austin June 20. He said he meant no "snub" of the governor but that his tight schedule, made in advance, did not permit the meeting.

Asked if he felt Butler turned down the invitation at the suggestion of the "loyalist" group, Shivers replied he was "forced to make that assumption." The governor has made no reported move to meet Butler.

Seamen Striking Along 2 Coasts

NEW YORK (AP)—A "no contract, no work" stoppage by union seamen along the Atlantic and Gulf coasts threatens to tie up half of the American merchant fleet.

The CIO National Maritime Union wired its "no contract, no work" recommendations to union locals in 18 ports after negotiations were broken off.

Contract negotiations between the four unions and two employer groups had been going on for weeks, and federal mediators stepped in last night. No further talks were scheduled.

Vatican Order Excommunicates Peron, Aides

Wave Of Bombers Drop Explosives On Chief Government Building

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Waves of bombers started dropping high explosives around Government House this afternoon just when the forces of President Peron appeared to be dominating the fighting in downtown Buenos Aires.

The revolt broke out shortly after the Roman Catholic Church in Rome excommunicated Peron and other leaders of Argentina's government.

At least a dozen bombs fell within eight minutes of the new attack which began in the general area around Government House.

An enormous volume of black smoke arose from the Plaza de Mayo district.

It was feared the number of victims would be heavy, since the area includes a number of public and private office buildings.

There was a pitched battle in the center of Buenos Aires, and planes bombed Government House, the seat of government. Revolutionaries fired mortars, machineguns and rifles against the presidential guard.

The revolt was reported to have spread to Rosario, Argentina's second city, although the government claimed the country was quiet outside Buenos Aires.

"There have been some disturbances due to uprisings of units of the air force and the navy," the state radio said in a statement attributed to Peron. "Army troops are fighting to restore order."

"One airplane has been shot down. Three others have been obliged to land."

Later the radio said only naval aviation was involved, not the air force.

CASUALTIES were being removed from the Plaza de Mayo, in front of Government House. Nearby is the National Cathedral, center of last weekend's disturbances involving supporters of the Roman Catholic Church and supporters of Peron in his campaign against the church.

The measure taken by the church's Consistorial Congregation was announced today in L'Osservatore Romano. It said:

"All those who have committed such crimes, be they those who ordered that such be committed, whatever rank they hold, and the necessary accomplices

New Du Pont Unit Here To Cost $500,000

Construction of new semi-works facilities at the DuPont Company's Circleville Film Plant will begin this month, it was announced today by Emory F. Ridlon, plant manager.

The semi-works, Mr. Ridlon explained, will be a complete plant in miniature for production of "Mylar" polyester film, and will be used in a continuing program for studying and improving plant production methods.

The project will involve construction of a two-story addition, 40 by 60 feet, on the southwest side of the present plant, and will involve expenditures in excess of $500,000.

The semi-works is to be ready for operations by the end of the year.

Robert H. Davis, of the Du Pont Engineering Department, will be in charge of construction. A force of approximately 60 construction workers will be required when construction activity reaches its peak.

Experts Doubt Foil's Danger To Livestock

COLUMBUS (AP)—Ohio State University said today they have received no reports of farm animals dying after eating aluminum foil dropped from airplanes in radar tests.

And they added that to their knowledge aluminum is not a toxic metal when eaten and that it likely would not be too difficult for an animal to digest.

The foil, called "chaff," is dropped periodically by Air Force planes to test the effectiveness of radar equipment. It is believed to put radar equipment out of effective action when floating through the air.

Some farmers in Fayette and Madison counties have complained that the foil has caused the death of some hogs and cattle and illness to other animals.

Dr. Walter R. Krill, dean of the college of veterinarian medicine at OSU, said that to his knowledge the metal is not poisonous to animals. He added "we have not had a chance to examine any animals to see if the metal causes any mechanical digestive disturbance."

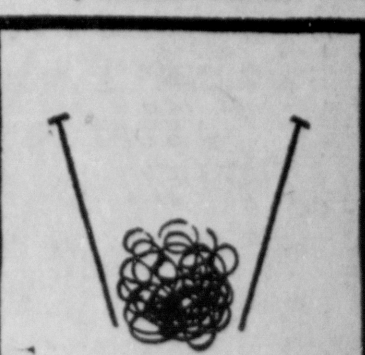

The state division of animal industry said it has received no reports in Ohio of such cases. A spokesman said the Air Force has been using the foil for years as a regular practice and that he knows of no cases of aluminum poisoning to animals.

This sad Droodle reminds me of my uncle John. You know how some women like men with mustaches. Well, Uncle John liked women with mustaches. Big ones. Said it gave them a "continental" look. One day he took me to a Carnival and they had a bearded lady there. When Uncle John saw that bearded lady he blew a gasket. Jumped up on the platform and chased her around till she tripped over a rope and then he grabbed her beard. It came off in his hand. It was a fake beard. Well, sir, the Carnival man ran up and started hitting him on the head with tent stakes but Uncle John just stood there holding that fake beard with tears running down both cheeks. Saddest sight I ever saw.

Ashville Begins Clearing Deck For Big Fourth

Ashville, traditional center of Pickaway County's Fourth of July activities, was beginning to clear the decks today for a record celebration on Independence Day.

Beauty contests, a big Fourth of July parade, and a day-long program at Community Park are popular highlights of the annual event. The celebration is sponsored by the Ashville Community Club.

The club recently elected officers as follows: Boyd Kuhlwein, president; Dr. C. W. Cromley, vice-president; Stanley Stout, secretary; Gene L. Tosca, treasurer. Committees specially set up for Independence Day are:

Lunch Stand—Dale Schiff, Bus Hedges, and Jack Irwin. Dance—Bob Bausum, Everett Peters, and William Foreman.

FIREWORKS—Bob and Carl Dennis, Contest—Warren Bastian, Harold Partee, and Elwood Morrison.

Independence Day Parade—Warren Brown and John Hardin. Band concert—John Hardin.

Beauty parade—Rolland Featheringham and Eddie Pritchard. Song festival—Mrs. Donald Flieri. Fred Brobst, director. Publicity—Edwin W. Irwin.

Vet Of 69 Movies Hoping TV To Aid His Film Career

By WAYNE OLIVER
NEW YORK (AP)—Brawny Forrest Tucker, veteran of 69 movies, is going into TV in hopes it will boost his picture career.

He has signed to star in a new film series, "Crunch and Des," based on the Philip Wylie short stories about a charter fishing boat captain. They will be produced by RKO for the NBC film division for telecast starting this fall.

With a backlog of six unreleased motion picture features, "Tucker" explains that while he has been very successful in movies he's never really hit star status. Most of the time he has been the heavy. He's hopeful his weekly appearances on TV screens may give him the recognition needed for sympathetic roles and stardom.

"This finishes my regular motion picture activities while I'm doing the series, except for about one picture a year," he says.

Tucker, a 6-foot-4 giant, will play Crunch Adams, the charter boat captain. Joan Budill as Sari, his wife, and Sandy Kenyon as Des, their son, will round out the cast. The series will be filmed in Bermuda.

Let's All Go Shopping!

By MRS. LEORA SAYRE

Farm Extension Service

Let's all go shopping for June foods that provide economical, nutritious diets and at the same time support milk and all the good products that come from milk.

Did you know that milk provides about 100 different nutrients? June is dairy month and it is also the peak time for Ohio strawberries. So milk, cream or ice cream and strawberries is an excellent seasonal and cooperative dessert for June.

Strawberries have been a popular item of food for all classes of people all over the world. Strawberries and cream were once a luxury dessert and now one which we cannot afford to miss today.

THEY ARE grown in every state with an annual production of about 300 million quarts. Many million dollars worth of strawberry products are manufactured every year.

These berries are so named because they were originally brought to the market strung on straws. Now they are secured from your garden or market or freshly picked from the farm—without the "straw". Or, you may have another choice—many Ohio growers are offering the berries on a pick-yourself basis.

Fresh strawberries rank 10th among fresh fruits we eat. Frozen strawberries rank first among the frozen fruit we eat. They make up a small amount of the canned fruit and they head the list of jam and preserves.

While they are in season, strawberries are one of the interesting sources of daily Vitamin C. If the berries are to be cut or crushed, serve at once so there will be no loss of the Vitamin C.

Strawberries also contain rich stores of food lime and food iron, both responsible for the sharp but pleasing tang of the strawberry flavor. They contain both citric acid, found in lemons, and malic acid, found in apples.

ARE YOU "slimming"? There are only about 55 calories in a cup of strawberries and 85 calories in a cup of skim milk. (One tablespoon of heavy cream—50 calories!)

When you go to the store to look for strawberries, look for the fruit that is clean, bright and fresh looking. It is economically improper for strawberries to go to market without their caps on!

Since dairy products are used in many ways in salads—in dressings or the salad proper cottage and Philadelphia Cream be classified as a month to re-organize salads.

A lettuce is the background or foundation of most salads, it is altogether fitting and proper to pay tribute to this important food item. Lettuce is the second leading vegetable in the amount eaten per person; potatoes are first. Nearly twice as much lettuce per person is eaten now as was in 1920.

Limited Access Roads Held Legal

COLUMBUS (AP) — The Ohio Supreme Court has upheld the state's power to establish limited access highways.

The 5-1 decision reversed lower court decisions in an action to knock out the limited access designation for a stretch of U. S. 40 in Madison County.

Highway department officials said earlier the high court decision would apply to some 356 miles of Ohio roads bearing the limited access designation.

7½ Pct. Pay Hike For U.S. Aides OK'd

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Postoffice Committee has approved and sent to the House a bill calling for a straight 7½ per cent pay raise for 1,073,262 government employees. The increase would be retroactive to the first pay period in March.

House leaders planned to speed the bill to passage next week and send it immediately to conference with the Senate, which previously voted a 10 per cent raise.

Yankee Dollar Helps Ryukyuans

FT. BUCKER, Okinawa (AP) —

American spending in Okinawa last year enabled the Ryukyuans to pay for 77.4 per cent of their food and other imports, the Ryukyuan government says. The report said the Ryukyuan economy's largest single income in the year ended March 31 was the $48,454,000 "derived as a direct result of U. S. forces being here."

Thank-You Statue Back in the News

By HARRY WARNER, Jr.
Central Press Correspondent
HAGERSTOWN, Md. — Recent controversy in France over the location of a statue has brought back into the news the almost forgotten thank-you statue this country sent to France, in return for the famed Statue of Liberty.

Almost every school child knows the story of the Statue of Liberty in New York harbor. But not many youngsters realize their parents or grandparents donated pennies to help pay for a statue sent to France soon after the turn of the century.

The school boys and girls of America provided the money needed to erect a huge bronze statue of LaFayette. The LaFayette statue was installed near the Louvre. It's the location that is causing the trouble now, rather than the statue. Some influential people in France think LaFayette spoils the view at that point, and the Foreign Ministry of France has been discussing it with the United States Embassy.

The original model.

THE STATUE of LaFayette is small, in comparison with the Statue of Liberty, but it's still an imposing edifice, showing the famed Frenchman brandishing his sword while seated on his charger, atop a tall pedestal.

The pedestal announces, in French: "Erected by the school children of the United States, in grateful memory of LaFayette, statesman, warrior, and patriot." A little lower on the pedestal, in smaller lettering, is another inscription: "Tribute by the Daughters of the American Revolution to the great memory of LaFayette, of America, companion in arms of Washington, and soldier with two fatherlands."

The LaFayette statue is the work of Paul Wayland Bartlett, an American sculptor who won the right to create it in a competition. A NATIVE of New Haven, who lived 1865 to 1925, Bartlett's work is more familiar for the statuary which stands in a number of major American cities. He created statues that became famous standing in front of the New York Public Library, and a group of figures in a pediment over the House wing of the Capitol in Washington.

Bartlett was a natural for the job of depicting LaFayette. He began his serious studies at the age of 15 in Paris by modeling animals in the Jardin des Plantes, won a medal at the Paris Salon as early as 1887, and was named a commander of the Legion of Honor in that city shortly before his death.

No matter what the French authorities do with the bronze LaFayette, there will be a permanent memento of the school children's project in this country. The Washington County Museum of Fine Arts in Hagerstown, Md., owns the original model, a six-foot version of the statue. It is basically similar to the big one, except for the fact that LaFayette is holding his sword in a lower position, and a small turtle is in- explicitly squatting beside the left hind leg of LaFayette's horse.

The statue in Paris.

Newark Bank Clerk Given Year In Jail

COLUMBUS (AP)—Federal Judge Mell G. Underwood yesterday

sentence Edwin L. Penick, Newark bank clerk, to one year and one day in a federal institution, for embezzling $1,000 from the Licking National Bank last year. Penick had pleaded guilty two weeks ago to embezzlement charges, one involving $600 and the other $400. He had been employed by the bank since he left high school.

Other sentences included: Mrs. Sarah M. Sheppard of Mt. Vernon, three counts of fraudulently receiving social security benefits, 90 days on each count. The government charged that in all she received about $4,000 in benefits after her husband's death, although juvenile court took two of her children away. She claimed she sent the money to persons caring for the children, but had no receipts.

Harry Laisure, mailman for 28 years at Martins Ferry, charged with five counts of stealing letters and cashing checks he found there, in one year and one day. Alfred Taylor of Wheeling, W. Va., transporting a stolen car from Wheeling to Ohio, five years.

Robert Kuchs of Philadelphia, breaking into a postoffice at Hensryville, Belmont County, and stealing small amount of money, three to five years. Oakwood Products Corp. of Jackson, fined $800 and its head, Arthur A. Lotney, $200, for failing to pay time and a half for overtime.

Pile Of Farm Hay Suffocates Boy

CENTERVILLE, Mich. (AP)—Andy Huff and his pal Wally Bowman, both 9, were having great fun Wednesday on the George Rice farm.

Farmhands were feeding hay into a machine that poured it into a moving wagon. Andy and Wally were running alongside and climbing into the wagon to watch the hay pile up.

Later, back at the barn, Wally missed his friend. He told farmhands. They searched the fields. No success. Then Wally suggested they look in the wagon.

There, under a pile of hay, they found Andy's body. He had been trapped in the falling hay and had suffocated.

Thief Returns Stolen Checks

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP)—Gas station owner Robert Swanger had to pay three cents postage due on the letter. But when he opened it, he found $1,735 in checks inside.

The checks were returned after Swanger reported the theft of a money bag Monday from his service station. He said he had checks and cash prepared for a bank deposit when he left the station to wait on a customer.

When he returned, he said the money bag and a man who had been waiting inside the station both were gone. Total lost was $1,965.

Liner Queen Mary Stalled By Walkout

SOUTHAMPTON, England (AP)—Britain's wildest seamen's strike forced the 81,000-ton liner Queen Mary to cancel her New York sailing today and squeezed Britain's harried passenger lines into a tight corner.

The strikers had pinned their hopes on tying up the Mary, a pride of the great Cunard fleet. They were convinced her sailing would doom the walkout which already has tied up the 32,000-ton Mauretania and five other transatlantic liners.

The strikers failed last week to hold up the Queen Elizabeth, flagship of the line.

Cunard's attempts to get the Mary underway were blasted just 10 minutes before sailing time, when 120 crewmen joined 500 others of the 1,267-member crew who had walked off the ship.

Some 1,100 New York-bound passengers began disembarking as the Mary's loudspeakers blared out the news. Among them were 50 members of the D'Oily Carte

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Chickens for broiling or frying are probably the best buy you'll find in most U. S. food stores this weekend.

Beef specials include rib roast and top and bottom round. Sirloin steaks, however, are higher in price in most major cities.

Pork prices are still climbing—in some cities as much as 10 cents a pound. Prices of pork on the hoof are the highest since last September, and market analysts say they won't come down before July. Much of the pork that would normally be available this month was sent to market during the fall and winter.

abundant supply in most areas. Outstanding buys include cabbage, and the ingredients of a crisp, hot-weather salad: lettuce, blets, cucumbers, radishes and green onions. Also plentiful and attractively priced are stringless beans, peppers, peas and corn.

Citrus fruits are still in season and moderately priced. Strawberry prices are about as low as they'll get this year.

HOW TO MAKE A GIFT FOR DAD

Here's a surprise for Dad on Father's Day that Junior can make. And Dad will appreciate it, too, for it's just about the handiest way to store hammers when not in use that's been devised. The main part is a narrow board of any suitable length, through which holes large enough to take the head of a hammer are bored with an auger bit. The narrow board is then nailed to mounting braces cut to the shape shown in the illustration. Dad can mount the hammer holder on the wall of his workshop with wood screws. It can be varnished or painted.

TINKERING ON HIGH
SENATE JUDICIARY committee has acted favorably upon a proposed constitutional amendment which would change the method of electing President and Vice President. Should Congress adopt it by a two-thirds majority, three-fourths of the states would have to affirm the congressional decision before it became law.

The proposal is to abolish presidential electors and end the unit system by which all electoral votes are awarded in a state to the candidate with the most popular votes. The candidate would get the same proportion of the electoral vote as his popular vote in any state.

It is provided that a President would not need a majority of the electoral vote to get elected. A plurality of the vote would decide if it was at least 40 per cent of the total. The election of a President could not be thrown into the House of Representatives, with one vote from each state, as it once was.

Should so many splinter parties spring up that no candidate got 40 per cent of the vote, members of Congress would choose a President from the two highest candidates, each member having one vote.

Five years ago a similar proposal was voted by the Senate but killed in the House. Both parties had misgivings about it. The fact is that the machinery of both political parties is geared to the present system and change would be painful.

FEARLESS FRANCISCO
GENERALISSIMO Francisco Franco has a poor opinion of Russian military might. Rather belligerently he says it doesn't deserve the deference the Western world pays it. His defiance calls to mind the oldie about the city editor.

It happened in New York long ago. The city editor was encouraging a reporter who had come back crestfallen from an assignment to interview an enraged and heavily-muscled citizen. "Go back there," said the editor, "and tell him he cannot intimidate me."

According to an interview in the U. S. News and World Report, the generalissimo is similarly undismayed by Russian military pretensions. He says the West has the edge, "even without the A-bomb."

However, the A-bomb is quite a lot to leave out of calculations of either side. Neither camp is likely to ignore it or to be so indifferent to the nuclear aspects of the situation as to be wholly exempt from intimidation.

If the generalissimo alone insists on being undaunted, perhaps he can be persuaded to take it up personally with the Russians.

Who Lives In Your Cellar?

By HAL BOYLE
KANSAS CITY (AP)—What does a man find if he comes back years later to his old hometown and tries to dig back into his boyhood?
Well, the surprises he discovers may rather in a small way reconcile him to the guy he has become.
He may find, for example, that dumb and lonely as he felt himself to be then, he wasn't altogether as dumb as he thought he was. He may even be sobered into a thoughtful new responsibility by the realization that a new calendar hasn't made him a new man.
Do people improve with time? Do they get worse?
It's a great adventure to go back and try to decide. The opportunity to revisit myself when young felt to me during a stop-over here on the way back from the Southwest to New York, where I work.
My mother had just sold the old home that had been the center of our family for 34 years.

George E. Sokolsky's
These Days
On February 22, 1943, at 3:25 p. m., according to the Morgenthau diaries, a meeting was held at the Treasury at which Daniel Bell, Under Secretary, complained that he was being overloaded by work. Everybody was sympathetic, particularly Harry Dexter White, who agreed that Bell was doing too much. He made this point:

"I think so . . . I think definitely that that could be facilitated if it were clarified. Where the definite responsibility is not indicated there are always a good many who are not sure just what they have to do. I have never been wholly sure just how much I should initiate. . ."

So the ball was batted about and it was agreed that something should be put on paper which would so reorganize the Treasury that the Secretary and his Under Secretary would be relieved of some of their burdens. White was to do the re-arranging of functions.

Out of this discussion came a letter dated February 25, 1943, which is most illuminating as it turned over to Harry Dexter White authorities which made him the most powerful man in the Treasury:

"Effective this date, I would like you to take supervision over and assume full responsibility for Treasury's participation in all economic and financial matters (except matters pertaining to depository facilities, transfers of funds, and war expenditures) in connection with the operations of the Army and Navy and the civilian affairs in the foreign areas in which our armed forces are operating or are likely to operate.

"This will, of course, include general liaison with the State Department, Army and Navy, and other departments or agencies and representatives of foreign governments on these matters.

"In above connection, you will, of course, keep Under Secretary Bell advised with respect to all matters affecting gold, coins, coinage, currency, or rates of exchange. You will also consult with Mr. Paul or Mr. Luxford and Mr. Pehle in all matters which come within the jurisdiction of the Foreign Funds Control. OK — H. M., Jr."

Harry Dexter White thus came into an unusually powerful position in the Government with direct relations with the State Department, the Army and the Navy.

The Treasury was, in the war years, in a position to knock down the currencies of other countries and White was particularly interested in the inflation in China and in reducing the value of the British pound beyond anything that the British Exchequer regarded as right. He was now in a position to pursue his course without the slightest regard to his superiors who would only hear of his conduct when the State Department complained.

White, who was now Assistant to the Secretary of the Treasury, gives the impression in the diaries of being in charge of organization, of distribution of work, of the man just below the Secretary of the Treasury. It is to be noted that according to the sworn testimony of J. Edgar Hoover, not to mention other sources, Harry Dexter White was serving the Russians. Hoover said in his testimony:

"From November 8, 1945, until July 24, 1946, seven communications went to the White House bearing on espionage activities, wherein Harry Dexter White's name was specifically mentioned.

"During that same period, 2 summaries on Soviet espionage activities went to the Treasury Department and 6 summaries went to the Attorney General on the same subject matter."

DIET AND HEALTH
Treating Kidney Ill
By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.
DIET and rest are the best treatments for acute nephritis. During the early stages, it is essential that you remain in bed. This limits muscular activity and will help you avoid chills. Your doctor probably will advise you to measure the amount of fluids you take as well as the amount of urination.
Don't use hot packs or other measures to produce profuse sweating.
Bed Rest
Try to maintain regular action of your bowels. You can do this by using liquid paraffin or other simple lubricants. A soap and water enema might be used.
As a rule, it's probably best to remain in bed until there are no symptoms for a period of one month. Take it easy when you first get up. Take your time getting back to your normal routine. Your doctor probably will watch your progress very closely.
With the return of any single symptom which acts up for more than 48 hours, it's back to bed for you.
Starvation Diet
In severe cases of acute nephritis, most doctors recommend absolute starvation. This means no fluids or solids should be taken for three or four days. Actually, you'll probably suffer relatively little discomfort with this drastic action if a little orange juice is taken to moisten your mouth.
If your case is not so severe, you probably can get along on half a glass of lemonade, with glucose added, three times a day. In addition, you can have half an orange in the morning and another half in the evening.
Fruit and Solids
Within three days you can have a pint of orange juice or lemonade, with glucose added, and some cooked fruit each day. From then on you should regulate the amount of liquids you drink so that you drink a little less than the amount of urine passed during the previous 24 hours. Fruit and a few other solids can then be added.
QUESTION AND ANSWER
A. M.: What would be the cause of white shreds being present in the stool?
Answer: White shreds in the stool could come from many causes. It might be due to undigested food, excessive secretion of mucus, or perhaps some kind of parasite.
A careful examination by your physician will be needed to find the exact cause before treatment could be prescribed.

THE BOSS OF BROKEN SPUR
By Nick Summer
Copyright, 1954, by Nick Summer. Distributed by King Features Syndicate.
Rob Mallory had hoped his foot-sore, Kerry Rioridan, would settle down now, wed their neighboring rancher, Christie Toland, take over the management of Broken Spur, which Mallory had built into a Texas cattle empire. But there was a wild streak in the boy which drove him off on drinking sprees, into the arms of the earthy Lita Dawson. It was because of Lita that Christie had broken with Kerry and had turned her attention to Wayne Cameron, an icy-eyed stranger. Trouble in the area had long threatened, for farmers had begun to nest on the land. Disputes as to rights and boundaries arose, and range war seemed inevitable. At local dances, the two beautiful, flared sharply, when Tim Larrabee, farmer, and Kerry Rioridan, rancher, fought for the favor of the beautiful, earthy Lita. And when Mallory learned of this latest "mess" involving his boy with Lita, he whipped the lad soundly, wounding his pride, driving him from Broken Spur in quest of adventure. But adventure was breaking right here on Broken Spur. Someone had dared stretch a wire fence across part of Mallory's land, and one of Broken Spur's cow hands had been killed in the ensuing dispute.
CHAPTER ELEVEN
SANDY sucked in his breath, and Christie's knuckles whitened on the reins. Both of them looked at Rob, waiting for the explosion of violence that would certainly follow this blasphemy. But he sat statue-still, and his voice when he broke the electric silence, was low and level, although it grated.
"I've been expecting some idiot to try this year sooner or later. Sure, between all the different governments Texas has had in the last hundred years, most of the Spanish grants are cloudy enough so a smart lawyer could find holes in them if he was paid to look. But Broken Spur's mine! My title's all the years of my life I sweated blood to build it up—and it'll take more than a lawyer or a law-quoting sodbuster to get it away from me! I'll give you just twenty-four hours to get your barbed wire off my place—if it's still standing this time tomorrow, my men'll rip it out."
"If they aim to rip out every fence they find on Broken Spur," Larrabee answered steadily, "they're going to have their hands full. I'm not the only one that has it in his mind to file a claim."
"When the others try it, I'll take care of them." As Rob turned his horse away, he repeated flatly, "Get that fence down."
It was Christie who first broke the amber silence that lay on the three of them. "I thought Joe Larrabee had more sense! It's stealing—just plain land-grabbing! You'll have every rancher in the country on your side, Rob."
"And he'll have every nester on his," Rob observed shortly.
"You think so? They can't all have gone crazy—"
"Larrabee's got more brains than most of them. If he takes the lead, they'll follow."
"If they hadn't got hold of the notion you wanted their land," Sandy growled, "they wouldn't 'a hired a lawyer, and then none of this woulda happened. I'd sure like to know what jughead got that yarn going!"
"So would I," Rob snapped.
Christie's thoughts as she rode back toward Slash T weren't cheering company, and when she saw Wayne Cameron spurring toward her, she was glad of the diversion.
"I'm here to ask your advice again," he announced, "if you're not too sick of having me run to you with all my troubles."
He had dropped into the habit of consulting her whenever he wanted information about the special problems of cattlemen in this section. He had a way of talking her seriously as a rancher, and at the same time quietly letting her know he found her attractive as a woman. She said cordially, "Don't be silly, Wayne. Come on up to the house and have a drink."
"I'd like to, if you're sure I'm not wearing out my welcome."
"Any time you are," she told him, "you'll know it."
"I believe I would, at that. A man would always know where he stood with you, Christie." His smile made a compliment out of the words.
She moved her shining head impatiently. "Maybe it's a weakness, showing everything so plain that people can be sure of you. Sometimes I wish I was one of these girls than can keep a man guessing, but—I guess I just don't know how."
"Any man who'd want you any different than you are would be a fool, Christie."
Abruptly, she swung the talk back to the impersonal. "What was it you wanted to ask me about, Wayne?"
His small difficulty, and her comments on it, carried them to the house. Jared was sitting on the porch, looking out over his kingdom, that for two years now he'd been able to do no more than look at. He was a handsome old man, tall and silver-haired, with a strong likeness to his daughter in his gent features. He greeted Cameron hospitably, but Christie, who knew his ways in an out, thought, as she had thought on former visits, that she noticed a touch of reserve.
When they were comfortably settled, she told them what had happened at Broken Spur. Jared's face showed its troubles.
"It had to come, I reckon. We've had peace here for a long time."
"That's what Rob said! I don't see why it has to come!" Christie exclaimed rebelliously. "Why can't we go on having peace?"
"Folks been asking each other that for a long time, daughter. Maybe some day somebody'll be smart enough to figure out an answer."
"But they must have known Rob wouldn't take it lying down," she insisted. "If it comes to fighting, some of them are round to die—and most of them have wives and children."
"It's always the women and children that get hurt worst," Cameron agreed soberly. "But seems like the world can't move ahead any other way."
"Move ahead!" Christie flashed at him. "You don't call it progress for a man to have everything he's worked for all his life stolen out from under him?"
"I'm a cattleman," Cameron smiled. "Not in your class or Mallory's."

Solaqua Garden Club Holds Officer Election At Meeting

Mrs. Peters Reads Paper On 'Trees'

Election of officers for the coming year and a paper on "Trees" were highlights of a regular monthly session of the Solaqua Garden club.

The meeting, held in the country home of Mrs. C. W. Hedges of Robtown, was called to order by the president, Mrs. Cecil Ward. Opening Scripture reading of Psalm 23 was given by Mrs. John Koch.

Roll call was answered by 20 members, each naming her favorite rose. Reports of officers and standing committees were heard.

Officers were elected for the coming year as follows: Mrs. James Hott, president; Mrs. Glenn Rinehart, vice president; Mrs. Homer Peters, secretary; and Mrs. Walter Cummins, treasurer.

Mrs. Koch was selected by popular vote as a nominee for the most outstanding gardener for competition in an annual contest of the Ohio Association of Garden clubs.

Mrs. James Hott gave a report on a recent tour of the Holland, Mich. tulip festival. Mrs. Hott and Mrs. Homer Peters were guests of the Monrovia Garden Club on a chartered bus tour of the festival.

Members also reported on an open meeting and flower show sponsored by the Commercial Point Garden club, which was held last week in the Scioto Township school.

Plans were completed for the club's annual picnic and garden tour. The tour is to include the garden of Mr. and Mrs. Loring Hill of Kingston and greenhouses and points of interest in Chillicothe.

Following the business session, Mrs. Peters read a paper on "Trees". In her report, Mrs. Peters named the many varieties of trees, listing those which could be used for shade, background landscaping, windbreaks and other uses.

The speaker told where to plant the various types of trees, how to transplant, how to prune for beauty, and how to care for trees after they are planted.

Mrs. Peters mentioned the different trees planted as memorials throughout the nation and named trees famous in legendary lore throughout the world. The Christmas tree was reported by the speaker as the best loved tree in the entire world.

Following the program, Mrs. Hedges and her assistant hostesses, Mrs. John Koch and Mrs. Howard Koch, served a buffet luncheon to members and guests, who included Mr. and Mrs. John Hedges and Mrs. Larry Smith.

Newcomer Dance Set For Friday

The members of the Newcomers Club are sponsoring a juke box dance Friday evening in the Pickaway Country Club for present and past members of the club.

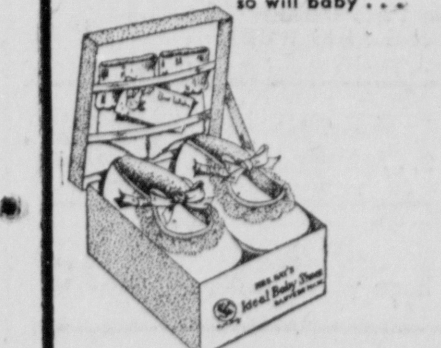

The event, which was originally announced for June 24, is to be held from 9 to 12 p. m. Friday at the club. All members of the club, past and present, are invited to attend.

Mrs. Donald McGregor is in charge of arrangements for the affair, which was announced at a meeting of the club, held earlier this week in the Court and Main Restaurant.

Keep Your Feet 'Friendly'!

Too Many Neglect Their Pedal Extremities, Suffer Needlessly, Declares N. Y. Surgeon

By Central Press

NEW YORK—A woman may spend $20 for a permanent wave every six months, visit her dentist twice a year, apply her make-up like a charm school graduate—and still be neglecting herself.

A man may treat his house to a coat of paint every spring, or treat his car to a super wash job once a week, and completely ignore two of his most precious possessions.

We are the people—and we'd make quite an army if we all lined up—who limp around year after year on feet that are killing us, but still insist on treating our ailing extremities at home.

We take advantage of every development, hormones, vitamin-enriched bread, and jet propulsion, but as far as our feet are concerned, we are all too willing to act as our own doctors.

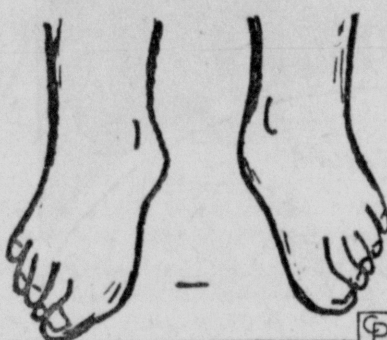

Corns and calluses, bunions, ingrown toe nails, soft corns between the toes, and plantar warts appear and are ignored if they don't give much pain. Actually these conditions are not just unkind pranks of nature like straight hair—or moles. Each one of them is a danger signal, a warning that it's time to seek professional help.

Widespread natural position — toes help support body weight.

If shoes squeeze toes together as shown here deformity may result.

Squeezed toes throw weight on inner side. Result: bad posture.

THESE ARE all signs of foot pressure and poor weight bearing, according to Dr. T. Campbell Thompson, attending orthopedic surgeon of New York's Hospital for Special Surgery, the country's oldest orthopedic hospital.

A common ailment such as an ingrown toenail may cause so much recurring trouble that operative treatment is indicated. The removal of the entire toe nail and nail bed and a portion of the tip bone is the surest way to get complete relief for this aggravating condition.

The operation is called a "Terminal Syme" after a famous Scottish surgeon, the father-in-law of Lord Lister, who first introduced antiseptic surgery.

Generally, foot troubles are associated with poor posture. For this reason the best exercise for feet is general postural correction. The center of posture is in the pelvis or sacrum. If a person stands with a sway back and knees rolled in, his weight is all on the inner side, or arch, of the foot. The foot is certain to be over-tired.

On the other hand, when a person stands correctly, abdominal and gluteal muscles are contracted, and the thighs are rolled out. The weight of the body hits the outer side of the foot which has no arch, and is therefore stronger. Startling as it may sound, the person with flat feet (provided they don't roll inward) may actually be better off than the person with an abnormally high arch who must rest all his weight on the heel and the ball of his foot. The sole of the foot is covered with tough skin and weight should be distributed to all of this large area.

Bunions, which are usually blamed on ill-fitting shoes, may be traced to incorrect standing and walking. When a person stands with the weight on the inside of his foot, each time he takes a step he pushes off with the inner side of his big toe. A slow motion film of an athlete taking a step would give the correct method.

The athlete's step starts with the heel, his weight then goes toward the outer side of his foot, and last of all, the tips of his toes touch the ground.

The man or woman who walks with a smooth, rolling gait, feet pointing straight ahead, or toeing in slightly Indian-style, has the right idea. It is the person who walks with feet toed out or splayed who needs correction.

WHEN YOU stand your foot serves as a pedestal. When you walk it serves as a lever. If a foot is markedly turned out or painful you don't allow it to function as a lever. You find yourself bobbing up and down, lifting 125 or 150 pounds two inches into the air with every step.

Shoe corrections, such as heel wedges, cushions, pads, metal plates, and bars are designed to make a person stand properly. In the old days in Europe this effect was sometimes achieved by placing a collar button in a specific spot in the patient's shoe. Unconsciously, the person walked to avoid hitting the hard object, and the correction was achieved.

Today it is generally accepted that foot pain comes from one of three main causes; excessive pressure, strain, or sometimes abnormality such as arthritis or a fracture. Unfortunately, the person who treats his own feet at home can never uncover the culprit in his particular case. Your feet require—and deserve—professional care.

Cincy Lawyer's Nomination OK'd

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has confirmed President Eisenhower's nomination of John D. Hollister as administrator of the foreign economic aid program.

Hollister, Cincinnati lawyer and onetime law partner of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio), will head the international cooperation administration. This new agency, part of the State Department, will take over the economic aid program after the Foreign Operations Administration goes out of business June 30.

How Goes South Viet Nam?

Playboy Ex-Emporer Bao Dai Not Considered Seriously

Editor's Note—The story of south Viet Nam centers largely around a small group of personalities. Preston Grove, in a series of articles on Indochina, has previously told of some of the American and French personalities involved. Today he writes of Bao Dai and Premier Diem and their feud.

By PRESTON GROVER
SAIGON (P)—No one here speaks seriously any more of the return of ex-Emporer Bao Dai to power in Indochina.

This sharp-minded playboy is the faded remnant of a once powerful line of Viet Nam rulers. He lost the respect of French, Vietnamese and Americans alike by gambling his hours away on the French Mediterranean while his country was in the throes of an eight year civil war.

Hansen, Stanton, for increasing a $40,000 farm to $250,000; Clinton J. Harbers, West Point, for converting swamp land into a $100,000 farm, and Jack G. Diem, have pushed Bao Dai far back.

The French in 1948 called Bao Dai from a self-imposed exile in Hong Kong, in a vague hope he could stir up enough popular enthusiasm to lead the country away from Ho Chi Minh, already waging guerrilla warfare against the French throughout the land. But Bao Dai was so obviously a puppet that the country would have nothing to do with him. It already had its eyes on a great national upheaval led by Ho.

Moreover, Bao Dai showed little interest in being a puppet and spent most of his time in his palace at Hue, on the "River of Perfume," in the easter high country, or on the French Riviera.

Years ago, Bao Dai chose Diem as his chief minister. That was in 1953 when Diem was a bright young Mandarin of 32. He was recognized as a sternly honest man and that is his reputation today in a country where bribery, intrigue and corruption are frequent.

He was here when the Japanese came in 1941 and when they left in 1945.

Though he has been a stubborn advocate of full independence for the country and has refused to share in any government which didn't have that as its main goal.

The French admit they have fumbled an awful lot in the 10 years since they came back to seize control of the country they lost to the Japanese. For a time in 1945 and 1946, Indochina considered itself free and Communist leader Ho Chi Minh set up a government in Hanoi, with an assembly, and began negotiating with the French for "freedom within the French Union."

A considerable amount of freedom was won on paper and Ho tried to make a go of it. But what was won in the negotiations was taken away in the execution of the terms by the French administrators in Indochina. They paid relatively little attention to him in Paris by a divided and quarrelsome assembly. They insisted on maintaining Frenchmen in all im-

Ceylon Elephant Population Drops

COLOMBO, Ceylon (P)—This island's elephant population has important offices and French influence in everything.

Diem was in Hanoi in those years. He refused to associate himself with Ho because he insisted then as he is insisting now that the French must agree to get out. For a long time Ho didn't ask that much.

Despite Diem's known desire to get them out, the French selected him to be premier just at the time of the Geneva negotiations which resulted in division of the country and the preparations for an over-all election in 1956 to decide who ultimately will control Viet Nam as a whole.

Progressively Diem moved through a cycle of broadscale governments to a government now centered tightly in himself. He is surrounded only by close friends and relatives. For the administration in some departments he has promoted old live civil service types who, he believes, won't make trouble, but will keep things going evenly.

dwindled to about 900 and faces possible extinction.

The head of the Ceylon government wild life bureau, C. W. Nicholas, says there probably are not more than 25 "tuskers" in the jungles. These are mature elephants, with fine tusks, highly valued as sources of ivory.

The Dutch, who conquered Ceylon more than 200 years ago, started a valuable export trade in elephants, shipping the animals off for heavy work. Tuskers were killed for their ivory.

Today the spread of civilization is raising a new threat. Peasants have taken to shooting the animals in an effort to protect rice and other crops.

THE COWBOY HAS A BIRTHDAY

Though He's Been Around 3 Centuries, He's Still Going Strong As Fiction Hero

The cowboy—most glamorous of guys.

By M. E. BYRNE

Written Especially for Central Press and This Newspaper

FOLKS should be erecting a monument this year, a statue, atop preferably the highest mesa in Arizona. A statue of a broad-shouldered buckaroo, resplendent in ten-gallon hat, gay shirt, six-gun belt and chaps, sitting tall in the saddle.

Reason? That hero of all American boys—and little girls—the cowboy, is having a birthday. His 300th!

Just three centuries ago this summer, if musty records are accurate, the first cowboys appeared in what is now these United States.

It was back in 1655 that the first cattle drive took place when a Colonial cattle buyer in Massachusetts sent a large herd to the market under the guidance of mounted drovers. Thus onto the American scene rode a figure who was to achieve heroic proportions in story and legend without parallel.

The cowboy is still with us but his greatest day appears to be in the past, modern methods in cattle raising and transport tending to remove much of the glamor that once clung to the job of being a cowpoke.

THERE ARE still a lot of cowboys around, but the roarin', tootin' variety are pretty much confined to the movies and television.

In recent years the most famous of cowpunchers has been Hopalong Cassidy (the movie and TV actor Bill Boyd) who came on the scene to challenge such highly popular cowpunchers as Gene Autry and Roy Rogers. A generation before them, kids thrilled to the film heroes of such quick-trigger buckaroos as Art Acord and Tom Mix.

Before the advent of the celluloid range riders young America thrilled to the horsemanship of cowboys with such traveling shows as Buffalo Bill's Wild West and the 101 Ranch. Today the rodeo has largely replaced the cowboy and Indian shows of grandpa's day.

WHILE the cowboy is peculiar to the Americas the United States has no monopoly on him. He flourishes south of the border down Mexico way where he is known by the picturesque name of vaguer. Still farther south is the gaucho of the Argentine pampas, a dashing figure, indeed, usually of Spanish-Indian descent.

Oddly enough, at one time the name "cowboy" was a term of opprobrium. This was during the Revolutionary war when Tory marauders in neutral grounds in New York state were referred to as cowboys.

However, the true cowboy, the glamor boy of the Old West, always ready to ride herd on longhorns or bad guys, will remain a heroic figure as long as western stories are told and there are American youngsters to thrill to them.

After Nine Years, Actor Divorced

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Actor John Sutton, 46, has been divorced by his wife Roberta, 33, after nine years of marriage. She obtained a decree on cruelty charges Wednesday, testifying that he drank excessively and once struck her.

Mrs. Sutton, former wife of Hollywood columnist Jimmy Fidler, was awarded a home in Beverly Hills and 20 per cent of Sutton's gross income until a $30,000 debt is repaid.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ford and General Motors didn't sign their lives away. Their agreement to pay laid-off workers has built-in protections. Roadblocks must be overcome. And theirs is not a true guaranteed wage at all.

The roadblocks:

1. The plan dies unless the federal government lets the companies treat as deductible expenses on their income taxes the contributions they put into their funds for laid-off workers.

2. The plan dies unless states containing two thirds of Ford and GM workers say they can, if laid off, collect both the pay from the companies and the full unemployment insurance given by the states. The deadline for approval is June 1, 1957.

Most, if not all, states have rules or laws, varying from state to state, against giving an unemployed worker any state insurance, or in some cases full state insurance, if he is collecting payments from his old company.

Ford has 140,000 workers scattered over more than 25 states. GM has 350,000 workers in even more states.

The companies will set aside in trust funds 5 cents on each hour's work done by their employs until, in the case of Ford, the fund reaches 55 million dollars, and, in the case of GM, 150 million dollars.

In case of layoffs, they'll pay their unemployed workers out of those funds, reducing their payments by 20 per cent if the funds drop to 13 per cent of the maximum level and stopping payments altogether if the funds drop to 4 per cent.

A true guaranteed wage plan assures workers either steady employment or approximately full pay for as much as a year if they lose their jobs. The Ford and GM plans do neither.

Company officials have described their agreement as a supplemental pay plan.

They'll give their workers between $2 and $25 for a maximum of 26 weeks. How much each worker gets from them depends on how much he earned on the job, how long he worked at it and what state he lives in.

All states pay unemployment insurance but they vary in amount and duration. Some give the insurance for 16 weeks; none gives it for more than 26. The companies agree to pay their unemployed people for no more than 26 weeks. They state their case this way:

Their unemployment pay, added to the state unemployment insurance a worker gets, could give him up to 60 to 65 per cent of his take-home pay when he was working.

11 Girl Athletes Hurt In Mishap

WELLINGTON, Kan. (AP) — A station wagon carrying members of a San Francisco high school girls' track team to the national AAU meet at Ponca City, Okla., ran off the highway on a curve and crashed through the wall of a residence here yesterday, injuring all 11 occupants.

The victims were taken to a hospital. Police said none was believed in critical condition. It was not determined what caused the wreck.

Sokolsky's These Days

But we notice from the material in the Morgenthau diaries that White keeps moving forward until—and we can now fix the date—by February 25, 1943, he is the master of the Treasury in its most important war functions.

His next proposal is for a Bank for Reconstruction and Development of the United and Associated Nations and as one reads his proposal for a United Nations Bank (mind you, this is in 1943), it is clear that if he were put in charge of this, he would be in absolute control of the economy of the world. He even proposes the establishment of a new international monetary unit, the Unitas, worth $10 U. S. currency in gold, against which the proposed bank was to issue notes.

The plan is a very complicated one, but this question arises: As the United States was at that time the chief possessor of gold in the world, and as the Unitas was to be backed by gold, was this a method of transferring our gold to an international bank?

U.S., 3 Allies Sign Atom Pact

WASHINGTON (AP) — With President Eisenhower taking part, the United States yesterday signed agreements with Great Britain, Canada and Belgium for cooperation in atomic research.

The President pledged "unrelenting cooperation of this nation to realize the benefits of atomic energy as a measure to promote lasting peace."

The agreements, which now require approval by this country's Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy, provide for mutual cooperation in research leading to the development of peaceful uses of atomic energy, including the generation of power.

Chicago's switching district handles more freight cars daily than do St. Louis and New York City combined.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I suppose this is a little late, asking advice, as I filed suit for divorce today. I don't want a divorce; I don't believe in it. But our situation at home has gone from bad to worse. Instead of praising each other, or adding to each other's happiness or security, we are tearing each other to shreds.

John has a good job and we have two lovely children. We are buying our home and have a good car. He buys things we could certainly do without, and never gives a thought to the children's clothes or little items necessary to everyday living. I have worked off and on ever since we married, to help pay bills when we get behind.

Whatever I do or say is wrong, and I haven't had a kind or appreciative word in the last two years. I have honestly tried, in every way I know, to keep the peace. I show my love, I've worked to pay off bills (while the children and I did without); I've kept the house clean and neat, etc. But I've felt utterly hopeless of recent weeks and the constant nagging and faultfinding finally drove me to a lawyer as a last resort.

I can always get a fairly well paid job and I have confidence in my ability to provide for myself and the children, but I don't want to. My greatest desire would be to stay home and take care of my family, as a wife and mother should. And now it would seem I am throwing away my only chance. John refuses to see a marriage counselor, but I would if I knew where to go.

E.F.

DEAR E. F.: As I get the pitch, your husband resents your assumption that he should provide the wherewithal to take care of wife and children. It seems he has been wilfully pushing you into divorce action, using indirect tactics to drive you to it—just because he is too selfish and irresponsibly inclined, in a childish way, to get any enjoyment from giving satisfactions and security to dependents.

He wants "freedom"—in terms of going back to an unmarried status, where he won't have to share himself or his earnings as a duty. And he is making you the goat in trying to fulfill his regressive wish.

Evidently each of you had counted on marriage to assuage a previous anxiety state, fueled by chronic frustration of need and desire. Neither of you had been well nurtured in a secure happy family life, in childhood, I think. So you weren't psychologically conditioned (by example or usage) to be generously loving-and-giving as a matter of course, from a well-spring of inner strength, when you got married. Instead, each was looking forward to a kind of Eden, in which he (or she) would be the cherished beneficiary of the other's supposedly all-sufficing devotion.

Longs To Be Protected

Unwittingly you bear down on the fact that you've worked off-and-on to help pay bills since you married John. I should guess you did it perforce, without very good grace, and have kept John well reminded of it. And I am sure it is no secret from him that your greatest desire would be simply to stay home, in the wife and mother role; indeed, it is this aspect of your partnership philoso-

Marty Marion Works To Stay On Heels Of League-Leading Yanks

By The Associated Press

Manager Marty Marion's busier than a one-legged man in a sack these days with keeping his Chicago White Sox within range of the New York Yankees and holding off the Cleveland Indians. He had a workout Wednesday night, juggling players and pitchers while splitting a two-night deal with Baltimore. The Sox lost 6-5, and won 2-0. That put them two games behind the American League-leading Yanks, who lost to Detroit 8-6, and a length ahead of the Indians, who lost at Washington 7-0.

Trailing 5-4 in the first game, Marion pulled center fielder Minnie Minoso in to play third and moved third baseman George Kell to first in place of young Ron Jackson so he could keep pinch hitter Bob Nieman in the game. Nieman, a long-ball threat, played left field.

Nieman wound up hitless, but Nellie Fox tied it at 5-5 with a homer. And when reliever Millard Howell went 3-0 against Harry Dorish in the seventh, Marion brought on Sandy Consuegra to pitch. Sandy got out of the frame, but was tagged for a run-scoring single by Bobby Young in the eighth that broke a four-game Chicago winning streak.

In the nightcap, Mike Fornieles breezed along for six innings on a 1-0 lead after Fox had swatted his second homer of the night. But when Fornieles issued his first walk to open the seventh, Marion called in Billy Pierce. And when Pierce faltered with a 2-0 lead in the eighth, Consuegra showed up again to pack it away.

Boston made it seven out of eight in the other AL game, beating Kansas City 9-6.

In the National, Brooklyn lost to Cincinnati 5-2, but stayed 1 1/2 games to the good as second-place Chicago lost to New York's Giants 7-2.

St. Louis belted three home runs to beat Pittsburgh 7-3 and Philadelphia blanked the Milwaukee Braves 4-0.

Billy Hoelt won his sixth while beating the Yankees, although leading relief help from Babe Birrer. The Tigers wrapped up their scoring with Jim Delsing and Frank House hitting back-to-back homers in a four-run fourth. Eddie Robinson homered twice for the Yanks.

Washington ended a seven-game losing streak as young Dean Stone held the tribe to three hits. Johnny Groth and Roy Sievers homered for the Nats, who scored six runs in the fourth to beat Bobby Feller.

Rookie Rudy Minarcin gave the Brooks four hits and had them shut out on two safeties until the ninth, when Junior Gilpian homered after a walk. Carl Erskine was the loser. Gus Bell singled, doubled and homered for three of the Redleg runs.

Five runs in the ninth broke up a 2-2 ball game for the Giants, with reliever Paul Giel hitting a double to start the rally that brought his first major league victory. Paul Minner lost it.

Herm Wehmeier stopped the Braves on six hits. Gene Conley was replaced after he issued a walk with the bases loaded in a two-run fifth.

Al Schoendienst and Solly Hemus homered to get the Cards rolling, but Bill Virdon's two-run clout put it away in the seventh. Paul LaPalme saved Luis Arroyo's seventh victory by cutting off the Pirates a run short at 5-4 in the top of the seventh.

Mel Parnell won his first of the season for the Red Sox, with help from Tom Hurd in a four-run Kansas City ninth. Jackie Jensen hit a two-run homer in the 11-hit Boston attack as winless Ray Herbert lost his sixth.

Maybe Age Catching Up With Feller

WASHINGTON (AP) — Maybe his age finally is catching up with Bob Feller.

The former fireball pitcher lost his third game against a single victory last night as the Washington Nationals trimmed Cleveland's Indians, 7-0.

Three losses and the inability to finish more than one game in a third of a season probably would mean the end for just about any pitcher except for the one time Iowa farm boy.

What keeps Feller a threat, however, is that one victory and the fact that he has been confounding prophets of his baseball demise ever since 1949.

That one victory, on a sunny May 1, was a one-hitter pitched against the Boston Red Sox. He had a no-hitter going into the seventh inning.

Back in 1949, his end was predicted freely when he won 15 and lost 14. But the next year he had a 16-11 record and a year after that 22-8.

He slumped to 9-13 in 1952 but was back with a 10-7 record the next year and 13-3 last year.

Circleville Pacer Equals Hilliards Mark

Circleville's pride in the harness racing world, Jerry H, yesterday showed his stuff by winning the feature race at Hilliards Raceway—and matched the season's time record of 2:06.2 in doing so.

Entered in the $700 Class A-BB Pace, Jerry H moved under the driving of Merl Thornton, Circleville trucker and good friend of the pacer's owner, Clarence Helvering, Circleville city councilman. Jerry H won by a half-length, but Thornton said Jerry could have scored his win going away. Circleville boosters say Jerry H will go in less than two minutes before the year is out.

The results:
1st Race, Class D Pace, 1 mile, $400. Lucille Dodge (H. Smith), Susys Girl (W. Wadell), Lone Maid (D. Moon). Time 2:12 1-5.

2nd Race, Class DD Trot, 1 mile, $400. Ohio Farmer (C. Miller), The Souvenir (A. Coder), Flying Enterprise (Renner). Time 2:12 1-5.

3rd Race, 2-year-old Trot, 1 mile, $400. Miss Frost (Smart), Edgewood Day (McConaughy), Miss Ponce Delon (Spurgeon). Time: 2:26 1-5.

4th Race, Class DD Pace, 1 mile, $400. Eldon Abbe (Boyer), Morris W. (Irvine), Jodi Jester (Thompson). Time 2:12 3-5.

5th Race, 24 class Trot, 1 mile, $400. Cathy Joe (Cheney), King's Jolo (McConaughy), The Batman (Burwell). Time 2:10.

6th Race, Class B Pace, 1 mile, $500. Thunder On (W. Current), Gallant Jerry (Simpson), Mr. Chairman (Spence). Time: 2:08 2-5.

7th Race, Class A-BB Pace, 1 mile, $700. Jerry H (Thornton), High Lo-Surprise (Hackett), Peter Hope (Edwards). Time 2:06 2-5.

8th Race, 25 Class Pace, 1 mile, $400. Maureen G (E. VanCamp), Mart Widower (Burry), Audios Emlen (Louise). Time 2:13 2-5.

Barb McIntire In Golf Feature
LAKE BLUFF, Ill. (AP)—Medalist Barbara McIntire of Rollins College of Winter Park, Fla., opposed Virginia Dennehy of Lake Forest, Ill., today in a second round feature match of the 11th National Women's Collegiate Golf Tournament.

Miss Dennehy took a 6 and 5 decision from Susan Driscoll of Maryville College of St. Louis yesterday at the Shore Acres Club near Lake Bluff. Miss McIntire, like Miss Dennehy, a former Woman's Western Junior champion, eliminated Charlene Cross of the University of Kentucky, 7 and 6. Miss McIntire is a Toledo district champion.

Circleville Bombs Jackson Twp. 15-0

Circleville Kochheiser's Junior League baseball team atom bombed Jackson Township's entry 15 to 0 Wednesday at Ted Lewis Park.

In Little League play, Rotary and Kiwanis battled to an 8-8 tie in an 8-inning marathon. The game will be rescheduled later on.

A pitcher's battle developed in the first Mosquito League game to be played (two others were rained out earlier this week). DuPont eked out a 21-20 decision over Eshelman's.

Circleville used 18 players in their massacre. To add salt to the wound, Jackson got only one hit—and that was a single by the first man to bat in the game.

A LEAGUE RULE halts any game when one team gains a 15-run lead. Therefore, the Circleville-Jackson affair was halted in the bottom of the fifth.

Dick Banks was the hitting star with three hits in four trips to the plate—including a triple. In all, the winners knocked out 11 hits; the losers did not help things any with their four errors.

Jim McConnell started for Circleville and was relieved by Mike Hosler in the fifth. Longberry and Smith handled the pitching chores for Jackson.

Line scores follow:
Jackson Twp. . . . . 000 00 — 0 14
Circleville . . . . . 175 01 — 15 11 0

Rotary . . . . . 105 200 00 — 8
Kiwanis . . . . . 231 200 00 — 8

Cincinnati's seven safeties. Bell doubled in the Red's first run in the first inning and scored in the fourth when Bobby Adams' long shot hit the top of the left field wall and bounced back into the playing field for a two-run double.

Gus smashed his sixth homer of the season in the sixth inning with Wally Post aboard. Bell's round-tripper chased starter-lower Carl Erskine. His replacement, Karl Spooner, gave up no hits.

'Credit' Given Reds By Yankee

NEW YORK (AP) — J. Lyman Bingham, executive director of the United States Olympic Assn. gave Russia roundabout credit today for stirring up Americans to contribute to the Olympic fund.

"Russia scares the pants off us, and maybe it's good," he said. He speaks from the viewpoint of a man with a $1,100,000 budget to be raised from contributions.

Colleges are chipping in with boosts in the price of football tickets, the Junior Chamber of Commerce and Life magazine are planning to repeat their intensive campaign of four years ago, there's a $100 a plate dinner coming up in Hollywood, and all across the country volunteer groups are putting on stunts to enable the U. S. A. to send a full, powerful team to the 1956 Olympics.

Peacock Fractures Marcias' Jaw
LOS ANGELES (AP) — With a jaw-fracturing left hook, Billy (Sweetpea) Peacock knocked out National Boxing Assn. bantamweight champion Raul (Raton) Macias in the third round last night.

Peacock, Los Angeles Negro, didn't gain the title, for it wasn't at stake, and that one devastating punch assuredly delayed the Sweetpea's chance of a rematch for the title, for X-rays show the right jawbone is broken.

It took Peacock two rounds to discover there was no use boxing the Mexico City boy. He started a slugging bee in the third, and two minutes and 29 seconds later Macias was counted out.

The full name of Gene Tunney, former heavyweight boxing champion of the world, is James Joseph Tunney.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear son and brother, George Elmer Mumaw, who passed away June 16, 1954. Friends may think we have forgotten. Secret tears do often flow. But memory keeps us ever near us. Though you died one year ago. Sadly missed by Father, Sisters and Brothers.

161 Players Tee Off In National Open

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Golf's blue ribbon tournament, the 55th annual United States Open, gets underway today with 161 players launching a bid to win the crown worn by Ed Furgol, a man who may prove tough to dethrone.

Seventy-two holes of competition

The great, the near great and the hopeful were entered, ranging from 58 year old Bobby Cruickshank of the old timer division, Ben Hogan of the present era to a 17-year-old youngster from Washington, D. C., Beane Deman.

Few of the sideline observers could settle on a single favorite. The list of so-called solid threats included Furgol, the defending champion; Hogan, hoping to become the first golfer to win this event five times; Cary Middlecoff, Sam Snead, Byron Nelson, all of the established star ranks. Then there are Gene Littler, Mike Souchak, Bo Wininger and others of the younger men, as well as perhaps the leading amateur in the lineup, ex-British amateur champion Harvie Ward Jr., of San Francisco.

Rome To Host '60 Olympics

PARIS (AP) — The International Olympic Committee today awarded the 1960 summer games to Rome.

A decision on the winter games will be reached tomorrow.

The 1956 games will be in Australia. In accordance with an unwritten Olympic rule that summer games must be in Europe at least two thirds of the time,

Cleveland-Baltimore Deal Tops Major League Trades

The Associated Press

The Cleveland Indians, battling to retain their American League champion title, and the cellar-dwelling Baltimore Orioles produced the only important deals as the major league deadline for trades passed at midnight Wednesday.

The Indians, seeking reserve strength, acquired veteran outfielder Gene Woodling and utility infielder Billy Cox, an ex-Brooklyn Dodger, in exchange for a pair of veteran utility outfielders — Wally Westlake and Dave Pope — and a bundle of cash.

A hitch developed, however, when Cox went to his home in Newport, Pa. He was reported to have said he didn't want to report to the Indians. Cox has 72 hours to report.

The Orioles, in another deal, sold Harry Byrd, right-handed pitcher, to the Chicago White Sox for an undisclosed amount of cash but in excess of the $10,000 waiver price.

In dealing off Woodling and Byrd, the Orioles let go two more of the nine players obtained from the Yankees last winter in the deal that sent Bob Turley, among others, to New York. The Orioles purchased Cox with Preacher Roe from Brooklyn for an estimated $55,000 and two minor league players last winter. The departure of Woodling and Byrd leaves only four of the original nine Yankees still with Baltimore.

The Detroit Tigers acquired veteran first baseman Earl Torgeson from the Philadelphia Phillies for an estimated $25,000. The Tigers were desperately in need of a first sacker since both Ferris Fain and Jack Phillips are hobbled by knee injuries.

In other transactions: The Cleveland Indians signed Ted Gray as a free agent. Gray, who saw action against Washington Wednesday night, was released last month by the Chicago White Sox because of a sore arm.

The St. Louis Cardinals swapped two pitchers with their Rochester and Houston farm clubs. Floyd Woodbridge, who hurled a one-hitter for Houston, and Mel Wright of Rochester were recalled. To make room the Cards optioned Herb Moford to Rochester and Barney Schultz to Houston.

Pittsburgh shipped third baseman George Freese and pitcher Ben Wade to Hollywood and brought up southpaw Lino Donoso from the Pacific Coast League club.

The Phillies purchased pitcher Ronnie Negray from St. Paul and threw in Dave Cola, an erratic pitcher.

The Chicago Cubs purchased Owen Fries, a utility infielder, from Louisville.

County Fairgrounds Here Scene Of LAFB Evacuation

Local Area May Play Important Role In Future If An Enemy Bombs Targets In Central Ohio

The first large-scale test of this district's assigned role in event of an air raid attack was carried out Wednesday morning at Pickaway County Fairgrounds.

Hundreds of families from Lockbourne Air Force Base were "evacuated" to the fairgrounds during a practice air raid alert. The Civil Defense test was part of a nationwide affair which presumed that certain areas throughout the country were being "bombed".

At approximately 8:30 a. m. Wednesday, air raid sirens sounded on the air base, located north of the Pickaway-Franklin county line northeast of here, and the families of airmen were alerted. Special convoys were on hand and a "secret" route to the fairgrounds was used.

The test itself went off smoothly, in the opinion of local law enforcement officials who were assigned to pre-arranged "traffic" duty in connection with the test. The "all clear" was sounded a few hours after the alert and the families returned without incident to the air base.

THE "DRY run" evacuation was the first large-scale Civil Defense activity to be tried in this section for many years. However, the program was arranged and carried out for the most part by air base personnel, and it did not indicate any sign of new life in the district's own Civil Defense organization.

Cincinnati long ago was designated as one of the regional "evacuation centers" in the event of a major bomb strike against Columbus or some other nearby city.

In any such wartime emergency, Cincinnati would be expected to "care for and house" thousands of evacuees.

No organized efforts to set up a standby program for that purpose have ever been made here. Public apathy has held Civil Defense training close to the zero level.

As a consequence of this, the smooth-working evacuation carried out by the air base families Wednesday morning attracted particular notice.

Baby Kangaroo Ousted By Mother

BALTIMORE (AP)—A 10-inch baby kangaroo named Josie may not be able to get back in her own marsupial mother's pouch but she's getting plenty of tender loving care from the human race instead.

Josie was the first kangaroo ever born in the Baltimore Zoo. Her mother, apparently disgusted because Josie has a limp, expelled her from her home. Josie can't get back of her own accord.

Arthur Watson, zoo director, has put her in the care of Mrs. Louella Earl, who feeds her with an eye dropper.

And Dr. Robert P. Wagers, a veterinarian, has discovered the reason for the limp—a tendon has slipped out of place on one hind leg. He thinks it can be slipped back in place with the application of a cast.

'Indian' Almost Dies In Hanging

HOUSTON (AP)—A Davy Crockett battle with the Indians almost ended tragically for "Indian" Johnny Dennis Jr., 6, Wednesday.

Police said Johnny, who was to be "hung," looped a length of cord over a tree limb, knotted the other end about his throat and stepped or fell off an ice cooler.

Playmates ran for help and Mrs. Ammie Dennis, the boy's grandmother, got him down.

At the hospital, Johnny fingered his throat cautiously and announced he was "ready for lunch." His condition was reported "good."

Prices On Haircuts Spiral Upward

DETROIT (AP)—Two more Michigan areas have joined the rising spiral of haircut prices. Macomb County, adjoining Detroit, has adopted the Detroit city scale of $1.75 for weekdays and $2 for Saturdays. In Flint the price jumped from $1.25 to $1.50.

~ Safety hints from the Red Cross ~

WATER is a good FRIEND but a deadly ENEMY

"DUCKING" a friend under water may seem like a wonderful idea at the time, but it is nevertheless a dangerous practice. When on or in the water, resist the impulse to play unexpected practical jokes, says Red Cross Water Safety Service. (Red Cross photo.)

Street Cleaner Wins $25,000

SANTA FE, N. M. (AP)—Ramon Angel, a $200-a-month street cleaner, his wife Guadalupe and their five children are $25,000 richer today.

But they haven't decided just what they are going to do with the money.

"We're going to think about it for a day or two," Mrs. Angel says.

The money, all in silver dollars weighing 1,562 pounds, was presented to the family Wednesday. Ramon, 34, won it as first prize in a national sweepstakes contest sponsored by B. F. Goodrich Co.

3 Of Quadruplets Fail To Survive

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Quadruplets were born to a New Haven woman here Wednesday and three of the babies died during the night.

At St. Raphael's Hospital, Mrs. Kenneth Barnes, 39, was reported to be resting comfortably. The remaining infant is described as being in "fair condition."

The four, all boys, were two months premature. They weighed about two pounds each.
